

JINR Newsletter #29, 30 July 2026

Dear colleagues and friends,

A series of large conferences continues at the Bogoliubov Laboratory of Theoretical Physics at JINR. This week, BLTP is hosting the Supersymmetries and Quantum Symmetries international workshop, which gathered over 100 experts in theoretical and mathematical physics from leading scientific centres and universities of seven countries.

The JINR University Centre held the annual school for 23 physics teachers from all federal districts of Russia, the residence country of the Institute. The programme is aimed at providing teachers with information about research at the forefront of science and methodological materials they can use in their work.

The latest JINR Newsletter features articles about the opening of new JINR sports facilities in Dubna, the presentation of the Artefacts of Francisco Infante exhibition catalogue, and much more.
